

Introducing Dick Ross, SVP of Business Development

Corporate PA is proud to introduce our new Senior Vice President of Business Development, Dick Ross. Dick is an award-winning producer and broadcast executive who brings extensive resources and expertise in the areas of entertainment, sports, news and live stage production.

Prior to joining Corporate PA, Dick spent seven years at CBS Network and over twenty years at Universal Television Network serving as Senior Vice President of Production and Operations. His experience extends into music production, live television production, post-production, television distribution, international television production and Direct Response Television. Throughout his career, Dick has developed working relationships with foreign government agencies, businesses and networks.

We are especially excited to utilize Dick's media expertise in the video area, an increasingly important tool shaping online engagement.
